Congressman Matt Salmon becomes an AbilityOne Champion

The Centers for Habilitation (TCH), along with Source America and other disability providers, are excited to announce that Congressman Salmon is an AbilityOne Champion. Congressman Salmon is being recognized for his commitment to improving the lives and increasing employment options for people with disabilities.

The AbilityOne Program is a Federal initiative to help people who are blind or have other significant disabilities find employment by working within a national network of over 600 Nonprofit Agencies that sell products and services to the U.S. government.

An AbilityOne Champion is an elected federal policymaker who has demonstrated support for the AbilityOne Program related community-based nonprofit agencies in his/her district or state through congressional actions while supporting the enhancement of opportunities for economic and personal independence of people with disabilities.
